- 25X1 1. A factory in Bydgoszcz producing ship's fittings (urządzeń do statków) has recently started production of radios for the Polish Navy. The first radios produced were of the Russian type but did not pass the standards test. As a result, a special commission arrived from the USSR to determine the cause of the production failure and to see that normal production was attained.
2. There are rumors at the plant that the radar equipment produced is for the ships of the Polish Merchant Marine. At the plant there is a special representative of the Polish Ministry of National Defense who accepts all finished products. It is reported that the plant has not reached 50% of its planned production.
